

Welcome

to UltraMarine

Greetings to you, UltraMarine reader!

I'd like to dedicate this issue to my dear Dad who we sadly lost in late February. He was genuinely a lovely chap and probably the person most responsible for encouraging my interest in aquatics. I can still remember him donating his digital camera to me way back in 2003, and this really marked the beginning of my interest in aquatic photography.

Truly, we often don't appreciate what we've got until it's gone, and this was of course exemplified by the arrival of Coronavirus in mid-March. Since that time it's been a whirlwind of worrying updates and developments which have been tricky to keep up with (and of course by the time this issue comes out, doubtlessly the landscape will have changed again).

Thankfully, the magazine doesn't seem to have been too adversely affected to-date and I hope you will continue to support us despite the compromises I'm sure many of you will have made. Your support and loyalty is most certainly appreciated by all of us on the team... so let's see this through together and keep our reef community spirits strong!
