

Welcome

to Ultra Marine

Greetings to you, UltraMarine reader!

As we head into Autumn and the nights draw-in, I hope your reef (or plans to create one) are providing positivity, motivation and relief in these challenging times. I often find this the period when I really turn to my tanks after perhaps prioritising my garden over the warmer months, and this year I think it's going to be even more necessary.

Talking of reinvigoration, updating my gobies article for this issue immediately started the 'cogs turning' and I'm definitely going to be on the lookout for some of these 'little gems' in any future shop expeditions. Given how good smartphone cameras are these days, I'd also encourage you to snap and share any unusual species, gobies or otherwise, be it at the LFS or home (check it's OK with the shop owners if it's the former of course!). If you can get a clear shot of anything especially unusual or unique, feel free to email it to me, maybe with a short write-up, and I'll see if I can slot it in!

Lots of great content this issue as ever, so have a scan of the contents opposite to get you going!
